

Jobs – ALS – IT – Webmaster

Opportunity

This is an exciting and challenging opportunity for rapid growth as you help design, build, and maintain a top-notch web presence for several related companies at our offices in Thousand Oaks, CA.

Responsibilities

As the successful candidate, you will be involved in all stages of web design and deployment, including web design, host sourcing, coding, technical writing, and related functions. You will also collaborate with colleagues to facilitate communications, newsletters, sales efforts, and a number of related activities. You will recommend hardware and software to management and implement solutions company-wide. Although travel is not a primary feature of this position, some travel might be required from time to time .

Preferred Candidate

The preferred candidate will have at least a B.S. degree in a relevant field, demonstrable experience in web programming, including e-commerce, and excellent oral and written communications skills.

Compensation

The compensation for this position will be commensurate with your capabilities, experience, and skill level.

The Company

Amethyst Life Sciences, Inc., is a privately-funded startup company with exciting projects at the intersection of biotechnology, pharmaceutical science, nanotechnology, and materials science. Its offices and research laboratories are located in Thousand Oaks, CA. For more information or to apply for this position, please call us at 480-9900 or forward a copy of your resume online to jobs@amethystls.com.